

Future Careers in Fashion – panel webinar

When: 4 March 2021 Thursday - Live 3:30-4:30pm

We are delighted you are interested in our panel webinar to discuss the future of fashion and the skills the industry will be looking for in the next generation to be lead the fashion industry.

To prepare yourselves to ask questions of our panel – this is our line up....

Panel Members:

Megan Doyle

Megan is a London-based sustainable fashion journalist. Since graduating from LCF, she has worked in-house for Matches Fashion, The Business of Fashion and Graduate Fashion Week, and has written for a variety of publications in the UK, US and Australia, where she is from. Megan covers fashion technology, material innovation, human rights, supply chain transparency and more, in an effort to promote a more ethical and sustainable future for fashion."

LinkedIn | Instagram | Website

Bel Jacobs

Bel Jacobs FRSA is a former fashion editor, turned activist and speaker on alternative systems in fashion, as well as fashion's impact on the climate and ecological emergency. She is a member of Extinction Rebellion's fashion team and co-founder of Fashion Act Now, a project that aims to accelerate positive change in fashion.

LinkedIn | Twitter | Instagram | website

Sarah Fletcher - Head of UK Licencing – MGA Entertainment

Brand licensing professional with proven track record of building and commercialising successful IP across licensing, marketing, product, entertainment and retail divisions. Companies include Disney, Clinton Cards, Mind Candy, Fluid World, consultancy Maximum Licensing and MGA Entertainment.

LinkedIn |

Rakesh Tailor

Rakesh is an accessories designer as well as a branding and marketing consultant. Growing up he explored several areas in art and design before committing to study Product Design for Fashion Accessories at Cordwainers at the London College of Fashion. He went onto work for over 30 UK and international brands. With a unique insight into what makes brands tick, he set up his creative agency 'Fresh Canvas' in 2012 offering brand marketing, web and identity design services to over 50 industries. He also delivers business masterclasses in east London to start ups. Rakesh is in the process of launching his own fashion label, Kishindo Renzo, which will debut this summer.

Nathan Wiles - Head of Design Zelus

Nathan grew up in east London and took his passion for art and design through a foundation course onto a Product Design and Development degree at London College of Fashion. On graduating Nathan combined his passion, knowledge and interest in sport with his degree and worked on team sports wear with Nike, where he developed and designed new performance team kits for football, rugby, and netball teams to name a few! Currently Nathan runs his own sport consultancy, working the global clients. LinkedIn

Chair – Justine Wright Head of East London School Engagement, London College of Fashion

Justine is an education and business partnership manager, delivering creative education opportunities for young people to explore their potential to be creative industry professionals. Working at London College of Fashion (LCF), Justine is responsible for raising awareness of LCF's move to Stratford in 2023 with unique projects and partnerships with local schools and colleges. LinkedIn