From The New York Times:

Hands-On Job Has Deputy Mayor Taking His Lumps

Deputy Mayor Stephen Goldsmith is in charge of operations, but his big assignment from Mayor Michael R. Bloomberg is to reinvent the city government.

Hi John, Danny

Further to the information sent recently, please find below FTP links to documents on transformation:

- ODA / OPLC Board paper <https://www.yousendit.com/download/T2pHQk05UnFuSIEwTVE9PQ>
- Transformation Board presentation (January) <https://www.yousendit.com/download/T2pHQk0rZDVwTVZFQIE9PQ>
- Transformation Board presentation (February) <https://www.yousendit.com/download/T2pHQk04ckIWRCt4dnc9PQ>

Please can you confirm that you've received the various emails sent recently? It might take a while to digest the info but in light of Andy's milestone of a draft business plan by the week of 15 March, please let me know if you have any queries or require further materials.

Regards,

Delia

Its not a draft bus plan, that's silly

I will explain. Although I thought was clear with Eric. It is intended to be a thoughtful organization/ synthesis of extant information so you/we can conduct useful diagnosis of what we have/gaps as a foundation for a bus planning (to be developed in next phase)

I'm in meetings until 8-9pm tonight. Can call after and better articulate
